BOKAMOSO YOUTH PROGRAM

TSOTSO NGOBENI

I came to Bokamoso in 2002 whereby I was attending an ADP class which takes individual a period of three months to complete, and in 2005 I had a chance to participate in a drama group which was suppose to tour America January that year, and I got a chance to study towards a diploma in Journalism with Rosebank college.

The challenges that I had during my studies were lack of study materials such as text books reason being they were very expensive, and the other challenge wasnot having own computer and access to the internet to research for assignment, so sometimes it made it so difficult but I've now completed my diploma in Journalism so it's a challenge again to find a job cause they tell you about experience hence you are fresh from college.
